GW INTERIOR ARCHITECTURE POLICIES spring 2022

OUR MISSION is to educate future designers on all aspects of the discipline so that they contribute to and advance the field of interior design through professional projects and creative research.

OUR FOUR GOALS are design excellence, creative scholarship, sense of community and identity, and outreach and engagement with Washington and beyond.

WE FOSTER a community that encourages creativity and pushes the boundaries of design with an emphasis on conceptual thinking and the design process. Through our studio-based curriculum, the core of our program, students learn to design three-dimensional environments through the use of dynamic concepts, cutting-edge materials and innovative methods and techniques.

OUR PROGRAM provides a constructive and respectful learning environment that encourages professionalism and engagement across faculty, staff, and students (CIDA 2020 Standard 3). We expect all students/faculty/staff to treat one another with respect, and practice consideration and kindness.

ATTENDANCE POLICY AS PER GW OFFICE OF THE REGISTRAR
https://registrar.gwu.edu/university-policies#attendance
Attending regularly scheduled and scheduled make up classes is a fundamental student responsibility. Faculty will use class attendance and participation as factors in determining course grades. The contributions of class attendance and participation will count toward course grades and is explicitly stated on each individual course syllabi, as are all factors used when determining these grades.

While it is expected that students will make every effort to attend classes, it is recognized that personal circumstances (e.g., religious observances, documented family and medical emergencies) and University-scheduled events (e.g., varsity athletic competitions, performances) will arise which preclude class attendance. In such circumstances, faculty will make appropriate accommodations, such accommodations to be determined by the faculty member. The student is responsible for obtaining the materials presented in missed classes and for making up missed tests and other assignments. No academic penalty shall be imposed for class absences which are permissible in accordance with University policy.

It is expected that students will schedule classes in order to minimize the number of classes that may be missed. Further, it is expected that whenever possible, students will inform course instructors in advance of any absences related to scheduled events. (Also see University Policy on observance of religious holidays.)

COURSE POLICIES AS RELATED TO IA PROGRAM
- Course attendance and participation are critical in a studio-based major. Connecting with faculty and peers, as well as reviewing process work in the studio supports our ‘learn by doing’ approach. As such, all IA courses will count professionalism (to include class attendance and participation) as 10% of the overall grade.
- There will be a reduction in points for all late work.
- It is up to the discretion of the faculty whether students can make up missed and/or late presentations.
- Students are expected to attend the presentations of their peers. Please no technology during presentations.
- For remote courses, the expectation is that cameras are ON. If there is a reason that a student is not able to have their camera on during class, please notify the instructor prior to the class session.
- For in-person courses, students should arrive 10 minutes early to class and attend the entire course session.

BFA ACADEMIC STANDING
Per GW’s undergraduate policies on academic standing, a minimum grade of C- must be attained in all upper-level courses numbered in the 2000s through the 4000s that are required for the major, regardless of whether those courses are internal or external to the home department. If a student received a grade of D+, D, or D- in such a course, it will not count towards the minimum number of credits required for the major until the course is repeated and a satisfactory grade (C- or better) is attained. This condition of C- or better does not apply to introductory-level courses (numbered in the 1000s) that may apply to the major.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES + RESOURCES FOR STUDENTS

University policy on observance of religious holidays
Students must notify faculty during the first week of the semester in which they are enrolled in the course, or as early as possible, but no later than three weeks prior to the absence, of their intention to be absent from class on their day(s) of religious observance. If the holiday falls within the first three weeks of class, the student must inform faculty in the first week of the semester. For details and policy, see “Religious Holidays” at provost.gwu.edu/policies-procedures-and-guidelines.

Academic Integrity Code
Academic integrity is an essential part of the educational process, and all members of the GW community take these matters very seriously. As the instructor of record for this course, my role is to provide clear expectations and uphold them in all assessments. Violations of academic integrity occur when students fail to cite research sources properly, engage in unauthorized collaboration, falsify data, and otherwise violate the Code of Academic Integrity. If you have any questions about whether or not particular academic practices or resources are permitted, you should ask me for clarification. If you are reported for an academic integrity violation, you should contact the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities (SRR) to learn more about your rights and options in the process. Consequences can range from failure of assignment to expulsion from the university and may include a transcript notation. For more information, please refer to the SRR website (https://studentconduct.gwu.edu/academic-integrity), email rights@gwu.edu, or call 202-994-6757.
